About this Directory

This Directory is intended to give you a list of agencies, telephone, fax, toll free numbers and web sites for quick reference for services offered to children, women and families.

The purpose of the Directory is not to promote or endorse any special services, agencies or organizations. The goal is to provide information on existing programs, and how these programs may be contacted.

The Directory is a beginning of listing services for children and families in North Dakota. Also, the organizations listed in the Directory offer a variety of services, so please contact them for more specific information related to the services they offer. There are many volunteer organizations, churches, businesses and other entities, which offer services to children, women and families. It is impossible to list every organization in the state. However, if you note services which you think should be included, please call (701) 328-1711 or (701) 328-4464.

In January of 2006, the Department of Health and the Department of Human Services decided to merge the two following resources into one. The Department of Health's resource is legislatively mandated (see page 2 for additional information) and is entitled Services Offered for Women and Children by Public and Private Agencies Statewide and the Department of Human Services was called the Directory. These two resources were merged to become the Directory.

We live in a busy society with many pressures on professionals and families. The format for this Directory is to offer information which is easily accessible. It is also designed to be compact enough to carry in a brief case. We want this resource to be a quick reference when assistance is needed.

We hope the Directory will serve North Dakota families well!

Also, a note of thanks to Toni Vetter, Nurse Consultant, and Linda Rorman, Head Start-State Collaboration Administrator, for all of their hard work on this project.

Mandate Information

During the 2001 legislative session, a bill was passed to update the directory titled “Services Offered to Women and Children by Public and Private Agencies State-wide.”

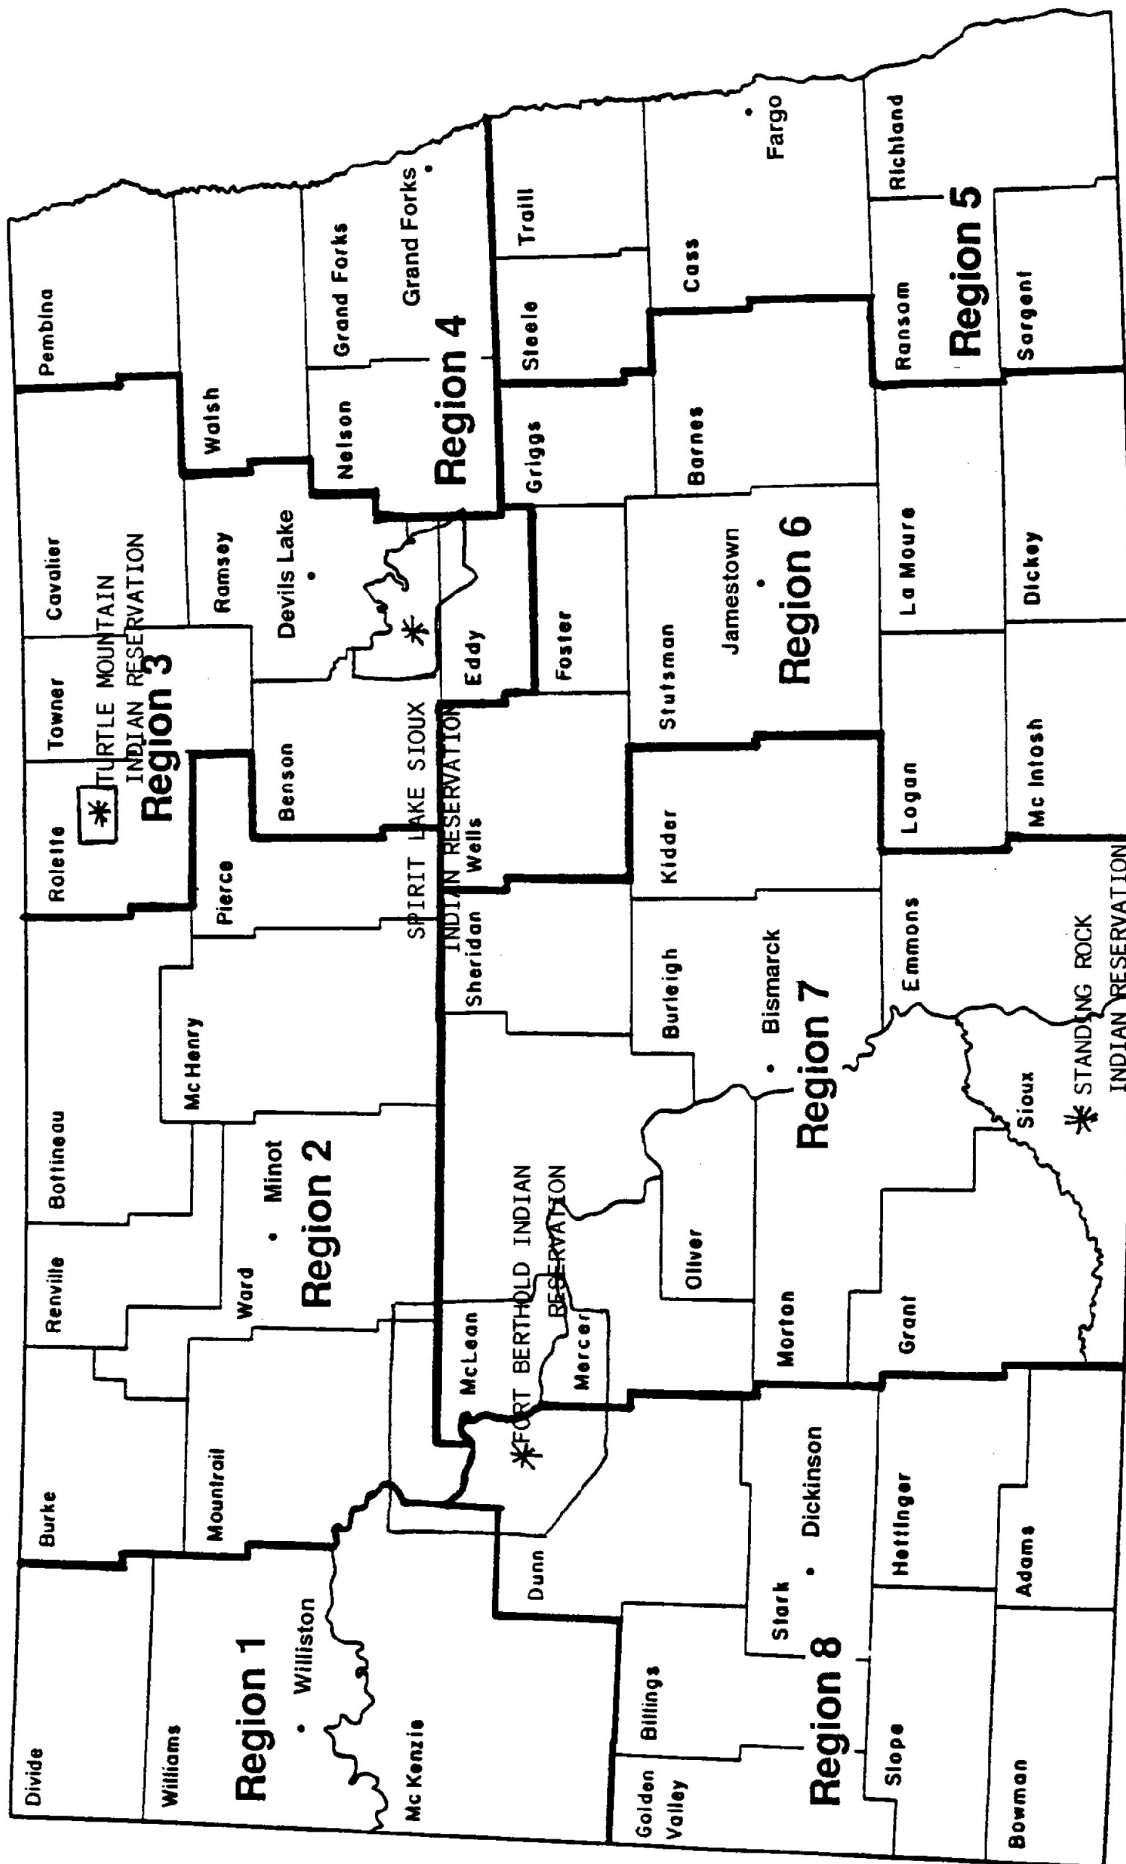

The North Dakota Century code reads as follows:

14-02.1-02.1. Printed information- Referral service.

1. The state department of health shall publish in English, and in every other language that the department determines is the primary language of a significant number of state residents, the following easily comprehensible printed materials:

a. Geographically indexed materials designed to inform the woman of public and private agencies and services available to assist a woman through pregnancy, upon childbirth, and while the child is dependent, including adoption agencies. The materials must include a comprehensive list of the agencies available, a description of the services they offer and a description of the manner, including telephone numbers, in which they might be contacted, or, at the option of the department, printed materials including a toll-free, twenty-four hour a day telephone number that may be called to obtain, orally, such a list and description of agencies in the locality of the caller and the services they offer.

To access this Directory visit the North Dakota Department of Health, Division of Family Health at www.ndhealth.gov/CH/ or call (ND toll-free) 1-800-472-2286 and press 1, or (701)328-2493.

In July 2007, the North Dakota Department of Health established a new Special Populations Section with two divisions: 1) Children's Special Health Services (CSHS) and 2) the Office for the Elimination of Health Disparities (OEHD). At that time, Children's Special Health Services, previously located in the North Dakota Department of Human Services, moved to the North Dakota Department of Health.

Office for the Elimination of Health Disparities (OEHD):

The OEHD adopted a broad but definitive definition of health disparities:

"Health disparities in North Dakota are defined as inequalities in health status, utilization, or access due to structural, financial, personal, or cultural barriers. Population categories affected include, but are not limited to, those identified by gender, gender identity, age, race or ethnicity, education or income, disability, geographic location, or sexual orientation."

The initial four goal areas for the OEHD are:

- *North Dakota Infrastructure - A broad variety of minority and multicultural communities are represented on the OEHD to facilitate expertise in cultural competency, cultural sensitivity, and valid interventions to reduce and eliminate health disparities.
- *Nationwide Networking - North Dakota will have an integrated pool of health disparities experts, including members of disparate populations, gathered under the umbrella of the OEHD to facilitate planning, coordination, initiatives, surveillance, and evaluation in reducing and eliminating health inequities
- *Program Planning and Evaluation - The OEHD will establish a coordinated and collaborative effective regional and national grid of networking to aid in reducing or eliminating health disparities throughout the state.
- *Partnership Diversity - Assure the OEHD assumes responsibility for facilitating increased and improved statewide planning, coordination, collaboration, and networking among public and private entities that address minority and multicultural health and health disparities

Description:

The division supervises the Child Support Enforcement program which is a joint effort of federal, state, and county governments to secure support payments for children whose parents are not both in the home. The program provides services upon application of a custodial or noncustodial parent or upon referral from the TANF, Medicaid, or Foster Care programs. Its goals are threefold: to ensure that children are supported by their parents, to foster family responsibility, and to reduce the costs of public assistance to the taxpayer. Services are available statewide, and through cooperation with other states and countries, nationally and internationally.

Services:

The Child Support Enforcement program provides the following services:

- q Locates non custodial parents
- q Establishes paternity
- q Establishes court-ordered child support and medical support obligations
- q Enforces child support and medical support obligations
- q Periodically reviews and adjusts child support obligations

These services are primarily provided by the eight regional child support enforcement units, which are administered at the county level

Description:

The Public Assistance Division and the Training, Education, Employment and Management (TANF) Division administer the welfare reform program known as Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF). TANF provides cash benefits to families which include minor dependent children and who lack the resources to meet their most basic needs. While federal block grant funding gives states flexibility, states are required to increase the work rate for adults on assistance. The federal government has imposed life-time limits on assistance.

TANF funding supports employment readiness, work activities, and support services such as transportation and relocation assistance. The TANF Division is also responsible for the Child Care Assistance Program and the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills (JOBS) program which complement TANF.

Public Assistance Division staff are responsible for Refugee Cash Assistance and the Basic Care Assistance Program. Basic care assistance aids people age 18 and older who are blind or disabled & who need the services provided by a licensed basic care facility.

Staff within this division also serve on the State Review Team which determines incapacity and disability, or exemption (due to physical or mental impairments) from work. Estates are monitored and appropriate claims are developed for recovery of past assistance expended on behalf of recipients.

Individuals can apply for these programs through county social service board offices. The department contracts with providers for work readiness and other services.

Family Voices of North Dakota Health has a guide called New Beginnings: Resources for children with Special Health Care Needs in North Dakota. This guide is available at www.geocities.com/ndfv/NewBeginnings.pdf.

Family Voices: A national grassroots network of families and friends speaking on behalf of children with special health needs and disabilities. We believe:

- * All children deserve quality health care,
- * Families and professionals have an expert understanding of what works and what doesn't work within current health systems.
- * Health systems built upon a set of tested principals and practices that flow from this expertise can improve the health status of all children and families.

Principles

1. Families are the core of any health system. All families including those who have children with special health needs are the primary caregivers and educators for their children. They should be respected and valued for their expertise and commitment to their children. Services should be family centered.
2. Universal access: For our children to be healthy, it must guarantee unconditional access to quality primary and specialty health care at a reasonable price regardless of health, income, employment, location, pre-existing condition or prior utilization of services.
3. Flexibility: A health system must provide effective, flexible services that are guided by medical and family needs, rather than by the policies of standard medical insurance practices.
4. Comprehensive, coordinated, community-based care: Quality health care means a coordinated system of comprehensive services – preventions, education, screening, diagnosis etc. all available as close to the family's home as possible.
5. Family-professional partnership: Outcomes improve when families and professionals make decisions jointly respecting the talents and resources that each brings to the care of the child with special health needs.
6. Cost effectiveness: By focusing on outcomes, allowing family choice and strengthening the role of the family costs can be reduced. The elimination of duplication, unnecessary paperwork and administration overhead also reduces costs. As families we practice cost containment every day.
7. Quality assurance: Working as partners and remembering these principles families and

Parent Education Network

Family/parenting resource centers collaborate with other local organizations to identify and address community needs for parent education and support, including outreach activities for special parent and child populations. Family/parenting resource centers promote parent leadership and involve parents and local public agencies and private nonprofit organizations, and community representatives.

The services offered by Parent Resource Centers include:

- * "Circle of Parents"; a parent self-help support group.
- * Parenting classes designed to assist parents or primary caregivers to strengthen their parenting knowledge and skills, to strengthen families and prevent child abuse and neglect.
- * Parenting newsletters, which contain topical and timely parenting information, which may be distributed in partnership with the public schools, and local agencies.
- * A free lending library of parenting related books, videos, bulletings, cassettes, curriculums, games, pamphlets, children's books, videos and other parenting resources that are available for loan to anyone within the resource center's service region.
- * Referral to other agencies within local communities to assist in meeting a family's needs.

Caring for a person with a disability or special needs is a large responsibility for a family; but, families don't have to care for their family member alone. Easter Seals Goodwill ND, Inc. can help. This statewide organization offers a wide range of programs and services with certified and trained support staff who can provide both personal care and medical services for people with disabilities or other special needs who are living at home and who, with some help, can remain there. Family Support Services is designed to provide "relief" care for family members who may need to take some time away from their responsibilities as a primary caregiver. Family Support Services can be used for a few hours a week, perhaps overnight, or for an entire weekend. Family members may also choose to stay home while the service is provided. Easter Seals Goodwill provides both Level I personal care services or Level II care that requires the training of a Registered Nurse for persons who are medically involved and require specialized medical care. The DD case managers at the eight regional human services centers authorize the hours of service for persons with disabilities.

The federally stated purpose of the federal supplemental funds are intended to help the overall goals of the Head Start State Collaboration Office, which are to:

1. Assist in building early childhood systems and access to comprehensive services and support for all low-income children;
2. Encourage collaboration between Head Start and other programs and services (including health care, welfare, child care, education, family literacy, community services, services to children with disabilities and homeless children) and;
3. Facilitate the involvement of Head Start in State policies, plans, processes, and initiatives affecting the Head Start target population and other low-income families.

The Head Start-State Collaboration Project is charged with addressing nine priority areas:

- * Improve the availability and affordability of quality child care
- * Increase opportunities for children with disabilities
- * Expand partnerships with school systems
- * Strengthen family literacy services
- * Promote access to timely health care services
- * Support access for homeless children
- * Collaborate with existing community services activities
- * Encourage collaboration with welfare systems
- * Support career development in early care and education

Head Start and Early Head Start

Head Start and Early Head Start are comprehensive child development programs, serving children from birth to five, expectant mothers and families. The overall goal is to increase the social competence of children in low-income families and children with disabilities, and improve the chance of success in school.

Health Services

Head Start ensures that all enrolled children have timely immunizations and screenings for cognitive development, speech and language, hearing, vision, and dental health exams and services. Referrals are provided when necessary.

Nutrition education is offered to parents. Experiences are offered to promote positive mental health, improved self-esteem, stress management and personal growth.

Early Childhood Development

A variety of learning experiences enhance the intellectual, social and emotional growth of a child. A focus is placed on the community's ethnic and cultural characteristics. Head Start is committed to individualize with the child. At least 10% of the enrollment is available to children with disabilities.

Family Services

Information about available community resources and how to obtain and use these resources is given to families. Staff work individually with each family to assist the family in assessing their own needs and providing services to meet their needs. Head Start empowers the family to help themselves.

Parent Involvement

Parents are involved in Head Start through parent education classes, program planning and operating activities. Parents serve on the program's Policy Council and committees, volunteer in the classroom, receive training and financial support for continued education. Parent involvement is a key to Head Start's success recognizing parents as the most important influence on a child's development

Parent and Staff Training Opportunities

Parents and staff are provided with regular training and technical assistance. This improves job performance and provides opportunities for career advancement.

Head Start is a federally funded program under the Administration for Children and Families (ACF), under the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). The American Indian Programs are managed by the American Indian Program Branch of the Head Start Bureau in Washington, DC.

Hospital and Nursery Information

Nurseries are categorized by different levels:

Level I Nursery: Normal Newborn infants only.

Level II Nursery or NICU: Neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) that takes care of moderately ill or recuperating infants who are over their acute phase of illness. Babies treated in a Level III NICU are sometimes transported to a Level II NICU for further care, if the location is more convenient for the parents.

Level III Nursery or NICU: Neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) that has the ability to care for the most complex and severely ill babies. NICU's are categorized into Level I (normal newborn infants only), Level II (moderately ill infants), and Level III. However, the types of infants treated in Level II and Level III NICU's often overlap and are inconsistent from region to region.
